About Wattsenglish and Wow!English

- Wattsenglish is a British publishing house founded by Steve R. Watts.
- Publishing materials with which to teach ENGLISH to children aged between 3 and 11 years - Wow!English.
- Designed and made for the needs of teaching English as a foreign language.
- Wow! materials are based on edutainment videos from the Steve and Maggie Show.
- The video stories and video songs are an essential core of the Wow! materials known and used all over the world - some 20,000 children in more than 30 countries learn English using Wow!
- On the market since 2015.
- Complete series of Wow! was finished in 2020 – the materials are up to speed with the modern world children live in.

Wow! Materials

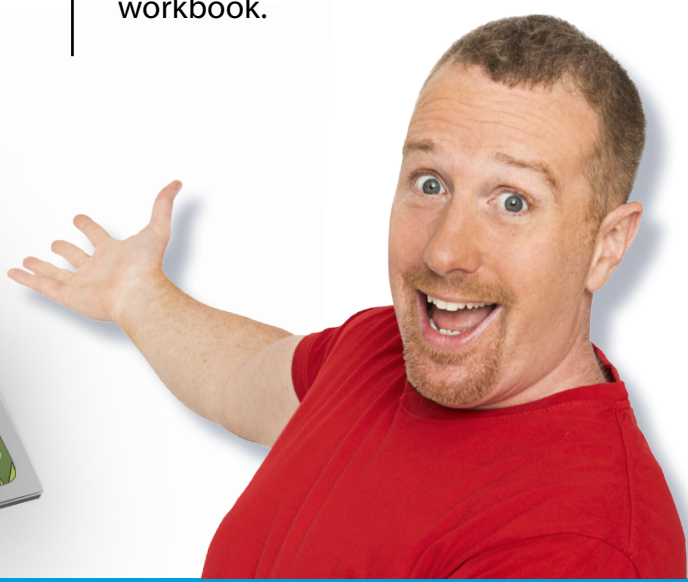

All kids will speak English with Wow!

- Based on video stories and video songs from the world of Steve, Maggie and Bob the blob.
- The real face of native speaker Steve in every lesson makes it easier for the children to grasp the language and brings about the need to communicate.
- Imitate first language acquisition – children acquire language in a natural way from videos and well-thought-out activities.
- English is not simplified; children learn from situations and context.
- Extremely variable and flexible – lesson plans, activities and numbers of lessons can be easily adjusted to any needs.
